S. 41 W.	4.78

This battle ground is elevated 15 or 20 feet above the Prairie which bounds it on the N. W. and S. E. and covered with a beautiful grove of W. B. & Sph Oak &c. Almost every tree is more or less scarrified with Balls. The ground within the Breastwork is yet white in many places with horse-bones. The human ones were gathered some years ago by a company of Soldiers sent for that purpose, and deposited in some of the graves before alluded to, and I trust this spot will be reserved and placed under the care of some person to prevent any one from settling there, or cutting the timber, which, if let alone, will stand for ages a monument of those departed heroes.
