VII. 2020 US CENSUS – Heather Maddox, Partnership Specialist for the local Census Office, talked about how important it is to have everyone counted on April 1st and how secure the process is in that no personal data will be shared. There will be three ways to fill out the Census forms: on line, through the mail, or by visit from a Census employee. There are also good paying local temporary jobs available.

VIII. ORDINANCE 2019-30-CM

Second Reading Animal Control

- Commissioner Murtaugh moved to consider ORDINANCE 2019-30-CM, second by Commissioner Byers.

Attorney Masson stated that the proposed revisions address issues raised since the 2014 changes to the Animal Control Ordinance. The amendments: change the terminology of “Vicious Animal” to “Hazardous Animal”, expands the definition of a violation to include unsanitary conditions that are hazardous to their health, requires adequate exercise and humane environmental conditions, includes an appeals process, provides for property damage awards from a neighbor’s commercial animals for damaging property and loose animals and additional provisions for feral cats. There was discussion between the commissioners about its application to commercial farm animals, but all felt comfortable with the narrow well-defined provisions in the amendment.

President Brown asked for any public comment and Steven Riggs spoke. He was concerned that: 1) The change from vicious to hazardous provides too much discretion and expands the authority of the Animal Control Officers, 2) there are no guidelines or procedures to manage the Officers discretion, 3) the recent court interpretation of a dangerous or nuisance animal agreement. Attorney Masson stated that the ordinance definition for a “Hazardous Animal” hasn’t changed only the name, and there are guidelines specified in the ordinance for how it will be applied. Seth Kirkendall, the Animal Control Officer talked about the guidelines and procedures he uses when working with animals, owners and neighbors.

President Brown asked if there were any additional questions and then called for the vote:

- Auditor Plantenga recorded the vote:

Commissioner Brown	Yes
Commissioner Murtaugh	Yes
Commissioner Byers	Yes

Ordinance 2019-30-CM passed 3-0 on second reading.
