The Court Services Funds and the Health Insurance Funds also continue to see cash balance increases.

The County Building will be open in 2018 on Election Day. Clerk Christa Coffey spoke as to the possibility that the building could be used as an Election site since as opposed to having City Hall as City Hall will be open as well on Election Day. The Council determined that the May Council Meeting will still be scheduled for that day and, if necessary, an alternate location for the Council Meeting could be decided at later.

Tippecanoe County Fairgrounds Master Site Plan Presentation

Commissioner Byers introduced Andy Hahn (President & CEO) of CHA Consulting as well as Justin Armstrong and Greg Silcox who have been contracted to speak with the stakeholders and citizens of Tippecanoe County in possible renovation of the Tippecanoe County Fairgrounds. The goal of the study is creating a facility which is a great long-term asset for the citizens of Tippecanoe County.

Mr. Silcox laid out the existing challenges which include safety and security, traffic flow (including animals), Emergency Management and operations of the fairgrounds, site infrastructure which includes drainage and parking concerns. Building placement is an important factor. The current buildings have run their life course. Each building and its current use was evaluated. The master plan lays out a long-term vision and options available at the site to improve its use.

Linda Lamb from the Tippecanoe County 4-H Exhibit Association stated the fairgrounds have been a part of her life for many years and she know of the needs of the buildings there which so greatly impact so many of the youth in the county. Ms. Lamb stated they share their needs and not necessarily their wants for the renovation plan.

Lacey Hankins, a former 10 year 4-H member, who now volunteers with 4-H sees the benefits for our youth through the 4-H fair and the potential of additional events such as concerts, weddings or general-purpose meeting space in addition to showcasing agricultural events. She feels fortunate that CHA worked with them to determine the needs of 4-H in this plan with multi-purpose buildings in place.

Justin Armstrong of GreenCase Associates stated that he has heard that this is a big project for 1,200 4-H'ers, but this project would have an impact on our entire community. 500,000 to a million visitors to the fairgrounds annually is very possible. Current usage is around 200 to 250 events annually with 30% of those revenue generating. From the data Mr. Armstrong has seen, around 100 events are turned away each year due to lack of available facilities. With Lafayette being basically the midway point between Indianapolis and Chicago, we are in a prime conference or meeting spot.

Ashley Gregory from Visit Lafayette deals with area meeting planners and this would be a great meeting destination. She is very excited about this master plan and agreed the county is lacking a facility like this under one roof. Numerous events are turned away each year due to a lack of space and several new events could come to Lafayette which the county has not been able to accommodate in the past. Currently groups are looking for events scheduled in the year 2020 so moving ahead soon would be beneficial.

Justin Armstrong presented an estimate of around $280,000 additional revenue from a renovated fairground. With renovated facilities, the county would seek to have charged events comprise about 85% of all those hosted. Currently only about 35% of events are charged for fairground use. Naming rights to buildings is a potential source of new revenue. Commissions from catering at is calculated as a revenue source as well. Use of equipment rental companies for things such as tables and chairs would save investment on those type items and setup and teardown could be a part of the agreement. When questioned from Councilmember Winger, Mr. Armstrong state the 4-H Fair accounted for one event and the economic impact would all come to the county. Recoverables were not included in the revenue projections.

Greg Silcox discussed the future vision of the fairgrounds. The plan design assumes the current YMCA facility is part of the fairgrounds property. The YMCA Building, the West Pavilion and the Livestock Pavilion (beef barn) will stay so there is no change for those in this plan. Currently the property does not meet the requirements for rain water, so storm water detention areas are included. All electrical infrastructure would be underground. New venues would include a picnic shelter near the horse barn which could be potentially rented. The main entrance to the fairgrounds would be moved with the work done by the state on Teal Road and a bus lane could be added for easy drop-off of fair attendees. The existing horse arena would have a roof extending the number of events throughout the year. Campsites or RV parking would be added (13 spots) to the east of the horse arena area. The Coliseum area with retractable bleachers allows for a larger area for various uses. The various pavilions are designed to be divided to accommodate various size groups.

The vision Mr. Silcox shared has the project completed in 3 phases. Phase 1 would begin after completion of the 2018 County 4-H Fair. This phase is mostly infrastructure, but it would also include the outdoor festival space along with the horse arena area and the RV camping area. Phase 2 would begin after the 2019 County 4-H Fair is complete. It would include most of the Coliseum complex as well as the YMCA property. Phase 3 would include the areas surrounding the West Pavilion and would be complete by 2021.

Total cost estimated provided by Mr. Silcox were:

	Low Estimate	High Estimate
Phase 1	$7,138,787	$9,132,414
Phase 2	$11,434,223	$16,073,496
Phase 3	$5,431,438	$7,097,601
Total	$24,004,448	$32,303,511

The intent is to continue to store the Emergency Management equipment at the fairgrounds. When asked by Councilmember Basham about additional employee needs, Justin Armstrong responded that projections indicate 4 FTE would be necessary. Positioning of the Coliseum is based on cub appeal.

Commissioner Byers shared that the fairgrounds project is a quality of life issue which will benefit many decades to come. The City of Lafayette is going forward with a $16 million baseball project. Commissioner Byers thanks the Councilmembers for listening. Councilmember Metzger inquired about naming rights to buildings and Commissioner Byers said the revenues are all conservative. Justin Armstrong spoke of the need for a 501c3 created not-for-profit to enable contributions of this type. Mr. Armstrong suggested that building naming rights agreements not extend past ten years.

Commissioner Byers asked about the bonding schedule. With three phases, would there be three separate bonds? Attorney Masson stated that the administrative costs would make separate bonds much more expensive but he would check on the legality of that issue.

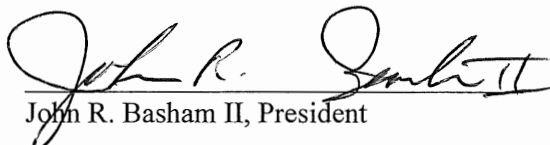

Commissioner Murtaugh reminded the Council of a Department Head luncheon in December and the Courthouse project is going to be completed before the end of the year with the lighting in early next year. The United Way campaign is ending on Thursday November 16. Pledges to United Way would be much appreciated. The victory celebration will be Thursday at 5:00 p.m. at Carnahan Hall.

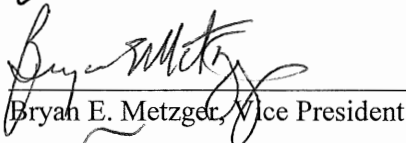

Public Comment:

Councilmember Basham speaking as a taxpayer and citizen is opposed to the needle exchange program and does not want to see any county dollars used to operate the program. He stated, "I am my brother's keeper, but I am not my brother's enabler".

- Councilmember Winger moved to adjourn, President Basham adjourned the meeting at 10:38 a.m.
